WHEREAS, scoliosis, an abnormal curvature of the spine with no known cause, is a condition affecting 2-3% of the population, or an estimated 7 million people in the United States—it is a condition which strikes without regard to gender, race, age or economic status; and

WHEREAS, an estimated one million scoliosis patients utilize health care yearly, with approximately one of every six children being diagnosed with this condition eventually being required to receive active medical treatment; and

WHEREAS, the primary age of onset for scoliosis is between ten and fifteen with females being five times more likely to progress to a curve magnitude that requires treatment; and
